Hackathon - A 24 hours coding competition ever organized in Academic Field. Department of B. H. Gardi College of Engg. & Technology.

MCA Department organizes a Hackathon Event as a part of Immaculate, a National Level Technical Symposium. Primary objective of organizing this event is to promote fun building and creative activities. This event is an independent challenge coding event. Competition provides a platform for programming enthusiasts to showcase their coding skills, technology know-how and most importantly their thinking approach with solving capabilities.

This event was open for students of various disciplines in BCA, Bsc (IT), Msc (IT), Diploma & Degree Engineering and MCA. Student can use any programming language & technology like DotNet, Java, C++ etc. Participants were given a problem definition which needed to be completed by team members within 24 hours.

MCA Department has also organized same event as part of Technical Event. Recently MCA Department has organized a Hackathon Event in collaboration with GDG (Google Developer Group), Rajkot for Social Cause. Total 20 industry developers participated in this event.

MCA Department is running Placement Club through which all the students are doing Aptitude Test, Group Discussion and Personal Interview. MCA Placement Club also organizes workshops like "Basics of C", "Logic Building using C/C++ language", "Career Development", "Time Management" etc. by which students can improve their skills.

Recently a "Voting Awareness Programme" organized at B. H. Gardi College of Engg. & Technology. The students of MCA Dept. played a key role by presenting a Drama showing "How is voting done?" under the guidance of Prof. S. K. Mehta.

Satellite Image Analysis is one of the technologies used in remote sensing and also a latest research area for scientists and engineers. NASA and ISRO are working on this topic since many years. Satellites in space observe the Earth from a large distance and help scientists to study large tracts of land and how that land changes over time.

CSE/IT Department had arranged a one day workshop on Satellite Image Analysis on April, 26th 2014. It was organized for post graduate students of E & C.E. It was conducted by Prof. G. Maru. This one of its kind workshop included many topics related to satellite image classification, segmentation, implementation of NASA's LANDSAT and image classification and segmentation.

The Workshop was divided into two sessions. First session was theoretical session on different topics like, "How satellite can capture any image in a very short time?", "What is classification and segmentation?", "NASA's LANDSATs", etc. Second session was purely practical based on this session students learnt about the satellite image classification. Students also completed the practical tasks within stipulated time.
